

Harpreet SIDHU/Free Press

Kayla Gandy monouvers around Terrace's Chelsea Metcalf during Prince George Juniors 7-5 win,

■ RINGETTE

Gandy's got game

Notches pair of goals in 28-team tourney

HARPREET SIDHU

Free Press

Kayla Gandy got tired of watching her sister have all the fun.

So eight years ago she laced up her skates and began playing ringette. And she hasn't stopped since.

Gandy was one of 11 players on the Prince George Junior team, which finished 1-2 over the weekend at the Joy Hoffman Memorial Tournament held at the Kin Centre.

The Juniors got off to a slow start with a 6-1 loss to Terrace and 7-2 to Quesnel. The Juniors regrouped for their final game of the weekend with a 7-5 win over Terrace.

"The first game was a little hard on us. We were trying but it didn't work out. We needed a couple more players," said Gandy. "The last game we were pretty happy. Normally we bomb out against Terrace."

Gandy picked up a pair of goals in the win. "There was a tournament in Terrace. We won one game and lost two. We only had two people to switch off with so we were all playing a lot," said Gandy, who plays on the wing.

In total 28 teams from Prince George, Quesnel, Houston and Terrace took part over the weekend.